LAST NIGHT'S DISPATCHES.

[SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.]

EASTERN DATES TO FEB. 5.

EASTERN STATES.

Japanese in Chicago.

CHICAGO, Feb. 5.—Six Japanese gentlemen arrived at the Tremont House yesterday from New York, having come here to meet the Japanese Embassy on route from San Francisco.

The Cat-Fish War.

NEW YORK, Feb. 5.—A letter from St. Petersburg says the course of Catacazy met with the approval of his associates in the Foreign office. Secretary Fish is severely criticised.

Terrible Powder Explosion.

SPRINGFIELD, OHIO, Feb. 5.—A powder house belonging to the Miami Powder Company, located between Yellow Springs and Miami on the Little Miami railroad, exploded this morning. Five men were killed and one is missing, supposed to be killed. The ground is strewn with timbers, etc., for half a mile around. One hundred windows were broken at Yellow Springs. This city was considerably shaken, bringing people to the streets in great alarm. No further particulars yet received.

Arrest of English Felons.

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—John Bladden and E. Tomlinson, two English felons, arrived yesterday on the steamer City of New York to-day, and were committed according to the extradition treaty. The Grand Jury brought in seventy-three indictments against them, charging them with frauds in London.

CINCINNATI, Feb. 3.—John McLean, many years Clerk of the U. S. Court for the Southern District of Ohio, died in this city to-day. He was the son of Judge McLean, formerly of the Supreme Court of the United States.

Deaths from Smallpox.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 3.—One hundred and nineteen deaths from smallpox occurred for the week ending to-day, being a decrease of 19 from the previous week.

New York News.

NEW YORK, Feb. 5.—The names of persons indicted to-day are reported. Six indictments have been found against Tweed; and others against Davidson, Gen. Hugh Smith, Peter B. and James M. Sweeney. Arrests are expected soon. Unauthenticated rumors say Mayor Hall is among the indicted.

Judge Barnard has dissolved the injunctions against the Tammany Society.

The Custom House Inquiry.

NEW YORK, Feb 3.—At the Custom House investigation last night, Gen. William Shaller testified that Leet's special friend was the late Gen. Rawlings. He knew nothing of the arrangement between Leet and Bixby; was satisfied that the President knew nothing of it. The President has stated that he did not want to come to New York at all, and wanted no one in connection with him to have anything to do with the Custom House; did not think he ought to control Cochrane's action. Witness recollected having heard and told Gen. Cochrane that Gen. Porter had [illegible] money from the New York Custom House, and thought it was in connection with the general order busines. Leet's services were entirely clerical.

Question—Does it occur to you as an improper thing that a man in the military service should be engaged in civil employment under the Government?

Answer—It does so occur to me.

Question—Do you recollect the tenor of the charges by Mudgett against Porter?

Answer—(After much hesitation) I believe the charge was that Porter got money from the Custom House. I suppose it must have been through Leet.

Witness admitted having informed persons in Washington that he had important evidence which he desired to offer, showing the President not to be connected with the general order jobbery. Also, the President was at first anxious Leet should not go to the Custom House, but take a Superintendency in Pennsylvania. He subsequently consented to have Leet take a labor contract, which was to be in the name of Howe, a New York politician.

WASHINGTON CITY.

General News.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—The House met for general debate. About a dozen members were present and several speeches made on various subjects.

The President and Vice President left Washington this morning for Baltimore, where they will spend the day and attend the Fair for the benefit of soldiers and sailors.

Rev. Wm. Hamilton fell on the ice this morning, and died shortly after. He had seen fifty year's service as traveling minister in the Methodist church. He had received the appointment of a clerkship in the Patent Office, and was on his way there when he fell.

Congressional and other News.

CHICAGO, Feb. 5.—Washington specials indicate the defeat of the Chicago relief bill, opposition to which is daily growing stronger. Senator Sherman says he will propose in its stead a direct appropriation of half a million of dollars from the treasury, and Senator Ferry will offer a substitute making the appropriation $100,000.

A Tribune special says Morton's early adjournment resolution which was received by the House Committee of Ways and Means, does not meet with much favor in that Committee. It was said to-day that a majority of that Committee would not consent to any adjournment until the bill to modify the tariff has been passed. Dawes, however, is not sanguine of any work being done in that direction by his Committee this session.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—It is said in official circles that the Government has no information which excites fears that the Geneva arbitration will fail in its object, notwithstanding recent communications.

Excitement Over the Alabama Question.

NEW YORK, Feb. 5.—The Herald's Washington special says there is great excitement among high officials in that city in consequence of our relations with England, and there have been constant conference between the Representatives of the American Government and the English Embassy. The situation in England as represented by the English Legation in Washington, is of the gravest character. The Tory party, although represented by Stafford Northcote in Joint High Commission, is desirous of forcing the Alabama question upon Parliament, and force such a vote as would test its want of confidence in the Gladstone Ministry. The latter in consequence are seeking an amendment to the Alabama case to parry the assaults of the Tories. A dispatch is received at Washington, urging the administration to withdraw its claims for consequential damages. The President is firm in his conviction that the case as presented by our Government shall not be amended or withdrawn. He regards the German Commission as a Court, and feels that America has a right to go before that Court like any any other party and leave the question to its decision. If our case shows any surprising features, the fault will be with the English, who permitted themselves for their own gain, to become parties to acts of war upon the United States. The President feels that the necessity of the English Cabinet must not be permitted to force his administration into false positions.

Further Particulars—Intense Excitement.

NEW YORK, Feb. 5.—A dispatch is received from our Minister to the effect that the excitement in London is intense, but no recommendations are made. The English Minister, Mr. Thornton, combats the view of the administration as to the Geneva Commission being a Court, and argues that it should be rated as a conference. He contended that there could be no cause if our case were presented in the form of a misconduct indictment. Secretary Fish does not see how any claim can be withdrawn. If, in his judgment, Sir Alexander Cockburn should withdraw there would be no hope of amelioration of the settlement. Mr. Evarts is about to return to this country for further instructions.

A special to the Chicago Tribune says relative to the Geneva Conference: The dispatch in relation to the action of the British authorities upon the American case is believed by the authorities here to be highly sensational. It is not believed that any open action will be taken previous to the actual consideration of the cases of each Government by the Board of Arbitration.

MEXICO.

The Insurrection.

NEW YORK, Feb. 5.—A special Mexican dispatch says the Juarists have hung all the officers including the leader of the revolutionary gang captured at St. Forego, about thirty miles from Matamoras.

A Matamoras dispatch says a party under Sanchez, pillaged yesterday at St. Forero. Sanchez and fifty others were killed. Three were wounded and seven captured. The prisoners were brought into this city, to-day. Four will be shot to morrow at daylight, and the rest imprisoned. Citizens are prohibited from leaving the city, and many are required to join the National guard, which has received 400 men under arms. Artillery was placed in the fortifications to-day.

Cortinas reached Reynosa, pursued by Quronda's advance.

Several prominent merchants, suspected of sympathy with Revolutionists, have been ordered to leave the city. Among others, ex-Governor Andrew. Everything is in preparation for an active defense.

CUBA.

HAVANA, Feb. 3.—The German ship of war Gazelle has arrived from Savannah.

Gen. Reguelon, the new Commander of the Eastern Department, arrived yesterday.

A portion of the excursionists who came here on the Monroe Castle, from New York, will return to-day; the remainder, next week.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE.

English Opinion on the Geneva Conference.

LONDON, Feb. 3.—The Times declares that England must give immediate notice to the Geneva arbitrators, and the American Government should take such action (if it has not been taken already), that if the American case is truly reported, all efforts to arbitrate may as well cease. The Daily Telegraph says negotions to that end have been opened between England and America, and British representatives are not received in a friendly manner. Leading journals criticize the American case before the Geneva arbitrators with great severity, urging Government to declare its opinion in regard to the demand for indirect damages.

At a meeting at Galoway to nominate a candidate for the Commons, a show of hands showed that a majority favored one not a home candidate. The result of the vote created a great uproar, which culminated in a riot between the opposing parties. The police attempted to suppress the disturbance, when a furious conflict took place between the officers and rioters. Order was not restored until many persons had been severely wounded.

English News.

LONDON, Feb. 3.—The Prince and Princess of Wales will be present at the Thanksgiving services at St. Paul's.

A special to the World says Chief Justice Cockburn officially counseled the Cabinet that England must recede immediately from the Treaty of Washington, leaving America to decide between a new treaty or war. The Council is now discussing the matter, and full recognition shall appear in the Queen's speech at the opening of Parliament.

Victor Hugo on the Commune and Thiers.

NEW YORK, Feb. 4.—A Paris correspondent of the World says he had an interview with Victor Hugo. In answer to a question regarding the Commune, Hugo said in relation to the last revolution and the principles on which it was made by its members: "I despise the members of the Commune, who compromised by their follies and crimes one of the grandest popular movements the world ever saw. Only think, if the army had not been hooted on by Thiers to suite the young Republic and murder her children, how easily the vagaries of the Commune would have been arrested by the co-operation of other great towns and of the center of civilization, how thoroughly we should be laying by this time the foundation of social organization. I have no hesitation in telling you that I consider Thiers a meaner spirit than Louis Napoleon. Those who call him a great statesman know as little of men as they do of French history. From the experience of the past he is incapable of conceiving a liberal plan for the future. His name will go down to posterity with the blood of the misled men he massacred on the streets of the city of Paris. Tons of thousands fell under his chassepots. Napoleon le petite has been surpassed by Thiers teres petite. If another Chamber were to be elected to-morrow, Thiers' power would crumble into dust. His home policy is to hold the sword of State by the handle and give the blade to the people. His foreign policy is his humor. Bismarck, by acceding to all his principles, and playing measures like that of compulsory military service, which might enable us to lift our heads again in concert, he may think it the first duty of every good patriot to keep Thiers in office, but whether he be sincere or not, his Government is based on corruption; and let it call itself provisional, Republican or monarchical, its fall is certain. God grant that this may be false; but as sure as the sun will set to-day, so sure am I that the military will be again in the field on my "pavre ptatieve," when it becomes a question of considering and understanding. There is but one party who has any chance in such infamy—the monarchists. The Duke Chambord is a monarchist. The Fleur de Lis would never live in modern French soil. The Duc d'Aumale is valiant in the army, but he has as little chance for wearing the crown as he has of being President of the Republic, and supposing either to be probable he is not the man to have any influence over the destinies of France. There is but one man at present in France who would do to vote for were the Presidency vacant. That man is Gambetta, a great and true citizen. He has proved himself a practical man as well as a theorist. His ideas are moderate and at the same time good.

UTAH.

The Snow Blockade on the Union Pacific.

CORINNE, Feb. 4.—Telegrams from Laramie state that no trains from the West have arrived. The passenger train that left Ogden on the 26th is laying at Minor. Passengers are living on crackers and fish, and every cut between Minor and here is full of snow. For the past twenty-four hours it has been snowing and blowing heavy, with no signs of abatement. Trains having passengers from Omaha of the 15th and 16th passed Rock Creek yesterday, having been six days in going fifty miles. The road is blockaded and no trains are expected. Rawlings dispatches say no trains have arrived yet from either way. A heavy snow is falling and drifting badly. Snow plows and one hundred men are working between Rawlings and Creston, making slow progress.

MEDICINE BOW, Feb. 4.—Several passenger trains are still stuck at Wilcox, and no probability of getting out soon.

CALIFORNIA.

From San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 4.—The steamer Moses Taylor, from Honolulu, with the New Zealand and Australia mails, arrived last night. She brought no news of startling importance. The Fiji Islanders continue to murder foreigners in retaliation for stealing native.

Webb received an enthusiastic welcome in New Zealand, and is now gone to Australia on business connected with steamship matters.

A heavy earthquake occurred on the Sandwich Islands, January 7th, but no lives lost.

After a close and very bitter canvass the anti-Roman Catholic municipal authorities were elected in Sydney.

Repeated attempts were made by incendiaries to destroy Auckland, New Zealand. Several disasters from fires resulted.

Arrived—Ship Sir Charles, 186 days from New York via Rio, with railroad iron to Geo. Howes & Co.; ship Adriatic, 127 days from Liverpool, with coal for Dickson, De Wolf & Co.

General George B. Williams sailed on the steamer America for Japan this morning to organize the treasury system for that Empire.

Owing to the blockade of the Union Pacific Railroad the America carried a very small number of passengers. Had the Panama steamer, which sailed yesterday, been detained till to-day, passengers from Australia, New Zealand and Auckland would all have sailed by her. They are very bitter against the Union Pacific Railroad on account of the blockade.

The Moses Taylor will probably be detained some days waiting for the mails, and if there is any reasonable prospect of their being received she may remain until next week. Mr. Wilkes, New Zealand mail agent, came by her. All the back mail is received.

The New Zealand Chamber of Commerce having resolved to protect a mail station at Page Paga, a fine harbor on the island of Fuluka, Navigator Islands, the Webb steamers will make that a coaling depot.

A San Francisco company, recently incorporated, has purchased large tracts of land there, and will go into cotton, sugar and coffee planting, being now engaged in sending a colony.

Stock sales in the Board yesterday, at the single session footed up one million three hundred thousand dollars. The total sales, in Board and on the streets, for the day, amounted to fully two millions. This is the heaviest day's business ever transacted in San Francisco.

Col. M. C. Smith was yesterday elected Grand Marshal; Brother Justin, S. J., orator, and C. W. Walsh, poet, for the forthcoming grand doings of St. Patrick's Day.

The wind blew a gale from the northwest during the night, with some rain in the day. Clear, warm and wind in the west.

SHORT PARAGRAPHS.

Washington advices say that the female suffrage advocates did irreparable damage to their cause before the House Judiciary Committee, and are compelled to admit that they have lost ground in Congress since the last session.

Somebody in Connecticut sold a bottle of the best brandy, and Prof. Silliman of Yale College having analyzed the same, finds in it alum., iron, sulphuric acid, essential oil of some kind, tannic acid, Guinea pepper, burnt sugar, lead and copper, with a basis of whisky.

Ireland has been said by one of the Jewish papers to be the only European country in which the Jews are given full rights and treated kindly. Such being the case, it is singular that there should be only 258 Jews in Ireland, as a recent census shows to be the case.

Dr. Paul M. Brennan, a somewhat notorious character, engaged himself to a widow of Quincy, borrowed $1,000 of her to finish up "their dear little nest in St. Louis," and deserved to be looking at the ceiling, and to pay no attention whatever, appearing wholly indifferent to what was going on. After he had been remanded to jail, one of the members of the bar having his curiosity excited, and Judge C. also wishing to know what effect his eloquence had upon the criminal, went into the cell where the prisoner was, and inquired of him how he felt when Judge C. was passing sentence on him. "What?" said the criminal, "what do you mean?" "I mean when the Judge was telling you that you were to be hung, and urging you to prepare for the awful doom that awaited you." "You mean when he was talking to me?" "Yes." "Oh, I never paid no attention to Dick Coleman; he ain't no public speaker, nohow."

Fish Culture in England.

It is stated that, under the care bestowed by various associations and the Legislature, food fishes are rapidly increasing in numbers in the rivers and estuaries of Great Britain. The increase of the salmon supply is especially noted. The total quantity of salmon sold at Billingsgate during the year 1860 was 3,850,184 pounds—an increase of 224,784 pounds over the sales of 1869. The total value is given at £213,059 pounds, or about 27½ cents per pound. The increase of salmon is not confined to the great salmon rivers. The fishermen of the Cornish rivers, the Fowey and Looe, agree that where there was one salmon or salmon trout ten years ago, there are fifty now. Mr. Cuthbert W. Johnson concludes an article on the subject with the following:

It is evident that in protecting the fish in their migrations up streams, by keeping those waters free from the matters noxious to the fish, and from unlawful fishing, far greater things are yet to be accomplished in increasing our supply of fish. That our rivers may thus be made far more profitable than at present, has been clearly proved by the results of the efforts made during the last few years. Our information on this national question has only recently been increasing. The same remark applies to our great sea fisheries; for it has only within the last few years been shown by the commissioners appointed to inquire into those fisheries that the value of the fish annually caught on the great North Sea Dogger bank exceeds the value of all the yearly agricultural produce of the fine counties of Essex, Norfolk and Suffolk.

Industrial Progress

An odd and curious volume has fallen under our notice It is a book of nine hundred pages, published at Augusta, Georgia, in 1860, and designed to set forth the Southern idea of political economy, to enforce free trade doctrines, and to contribute to the maintenence of cotton as "KING" Its author was "E. N. Elliott, L L D., President of Planters' College, Mississippi." It is well known by all observers how greatly the free trade idea contributed to the general stock of pernicious and mistaken doctrines that precipitated the great rebellion. Every page of this book is luminous with illustrations and proofs of this fact We have made a few extracts from it for the purpose of showing the general theory and results of free-trade in the United States. The writer, proceeding to show why the South opposed a protective tariff, said that such opposition arose from two causes, the one to secure a foreign market for cotton, the other to obtain a bountiful supply of food for laborers (slaves) at cheap rates We quote

But Southern planters could not monopolize the cotton market unless they could obtain cheap supply of food and clothing for their negroes, and raise their cotton at such reduced prices as to undersell their rivals. A manufacturing population, with its mechanical employments in the midst of the precious growers, on a scale back to the protective policy contemplated, it was conceived would create a permanent market for their products and enhance the price, whereas if this manufacturing could be prevented, and a system of free trade be adopted, the South would constitute the principal foreign market of the country, and the fertile lands of the North supply the cheap food demanded for its slaves.

It is not often that we find the results of free-trade so clearly stated. A protective policy increases manufactures Manufactures create a permanent market for agricultural products, and enhance their price. But free trade breaks down home manufactures, forces laborers into agriculture, and reduces the cost of agricultural products. The South, wanting cheap food for its slaves, wanted free trade as a means of preventing the agricultural wealth of the Northern States from engaging in manufactures and furnishing a home market for provisions whereby their price would be enhanced Let us quote again

By the protective policy the planters expected have the cost of both provision and clothing decreased, and their ability to monopolize the cotton markets diminished in a corresponding degree It they could establish free trade, it would insure the American market to foreign manufacturers secure the foreign market for their leading staples repress home manufactures, force a larger number of men into agriculture, multiply the growth and diminish the price of provisions, and stock their slaves at lower rates, produce for a portion for a third or fourth of former prices, and rival all other countries in its cultivation.

Still further.

As the protective system, coupled with the continued internal improvements, if successfully accomplished would inevitably tend to enhance the price of cotton, while the free trade, and consequent cheapening policy would as certainly reduce it of the two systems were so antagonistic that the success of the one was the knell of the other.

These were arguments for free trade in the days of slavery, the results of free trade in these present days would be exactly like those which the Southern cotton planters wanted. That is free-trade now would repress home manufactures, force a larger number of men into agriculture, multiply the growth and diminish the price of provisions," and "insure the American market to foreign manufacturers." Is this what is wanted? It is just what free-trade would do. This writer further tells us that Southern planters saw

Combination of capitalists, whether engaged in manufacturing wool cotton or iron, would draw off labor from the cultivation of the soil, and cause large producers to become consumers, and that roads and canals connecting the West with the East were effectual means of bringing the agricultural and manufacturing classes into closer proximity to the serious injury of the planters.

Probably the whole gospel of free trade, in its conceptions and results, was never more clearly set forth than in the brief extracts we have given above It is a ruinous policy for the country Were it now instituted, the laboring people of our manufacturing States would soon be without employment and forced to live on past earnings. Agricultural products in the great Middle States would lose the home market and decline to rates which would be ruinous to the farmer. This has been the result under free-trade heretofore Under that policy in 1846, the deposits in our savings banks ran down, banks of discount and deposit lost their specie merchants made short sales or sold on long and uncertain credits, and sagacious men saw that bankruptcy impended over all. The ruined people of the North and East were unable to pay for the products of the South and West Large numbers of them abandoning the cabins to which they had been trained, and in the pursuit of which while providing amply for the support of their families they still have accumulated capital and added to the national wealth and power, became unskilful farmers on mortgaged land in the distant West England, no longer simply mistress of the sea, but the commercial mistress of the world, seeking customers who could pay for what they purchased, bought her grain from the Baltic, from Egypt, or wherever she could buy it cheapest or with greatest convenience and the Western farmer saw his wheat rot in the field, and consumed his corn as fuel

All these things are facts, and theories against them are but as the idle wind. Such have been the results in free-trade times; but no such disasters have ever happened when our own industry and capital have been protected against foreign competition. During the last ten years we have steadily adhered to the protective system. And, though during that period, we have passed through a war that destroyed capital to the amount of hundreds of millions and interrupted multitudes of industries, yet these ten years have been the most prosperous the country has ever known Wealth has increased in unexampled ratio. Internal improvements have made surprising progress Labor is in demand and is better paid than ever before At no former time could the laborer save so much over and above the cost of living, as now. The multiplication of savings banks and the almost magical increase of deposits in them prove this abundantly. There are more comforts in the homes of the people than any former period in our history. Articles deemed luxuries a few years ago are now within reach of all People are better clothed and better fed The houses of working people are furnished in a style that would, a few years since, have been impossible The grand result of all this progress is that America cares for and fosters her own industry, that she pursues a policy which benefits her own labor and capital, assures the laborer of employment at remunerative wages and affords the capitalist security for his investment, the whole harmonizing and producing an unexampled system of industrial development and prosperity Against such results the declamation of party charlatans and montebanks who think it a good card to call protection robbery and the abstract speculations of free traders who advocate their doctrines on theory, are alike of no avail

Further Extracts from Senator Conkling's Speech

We have already presented considerable extracts from a recent speech by Senator Conkling on the one term proposition of Senator Sumner Mr Conkling's whole speech was so excellent that we may be justified in making further extracts Speaking of the common assertion that a President in office has power to force himself on the people for a second term by use of patronage, Mr Conkling said

I take issue with the whole theory that political patronage makes men or parties strong It does not, I have for years been convinced, and many who hear me must have been convinced that patronage is a source of weakness, not of strength Some men, by giving their whole minds to the work, and thinking and dreaming of "patronage" and plunder, as the be all and end all of politics, may sustain themselves for a time. By promising everybody, and laying the disappointments to somebody else, by wheedling and cajoling, and putting off, and promising over again, and explaining, and manœuvering, indefatigably, some men succeed for a time But these are not the men Presidents are made of, they never last long, and when their patronage is gone, they are gone too It was a good saying of a Frenchman, that he who appoints a man to office makes thirty nine enemies and one ingrate This is but the oarian tured experience and observation of most men The power to dispense offices, is a baneful when it is not a fatal gift Who doubts that official patronage has been a curse to the present Administration? With some knowledge of the facts, I aver my belief that nine-tenths of the warfare upon the President, in the ranks of his party, has proceeded from disaffection over patronage I believe that without an office to bestow, from first to last, he would have been comparatively free from attack What has been the effect of his office giving? Men who have enjoyed and abused his favor, have turned to rend him the instant they could obtain nothing more The "outs" are of course, arrayed against him, and the country is kept filled with cant and hypocritical outcry, because those who hold office do not stop voting and thinking for themselves, or go to work abusing the President!

This is very much to the point What follows is equally so

The chief ammunition of the Democratic party of late has been furnished by mongers of the wretched slang about Federal office holders controlling political results, as if the people had not the sense and courage and numbers to resent and put down the domination of improper interference of anybody, whether office-holder or candidate This species of falsehood had serious effect, till it became in some instances, so brazen and preposterous as to excite derision. Could the public eye pierce all the lofty garbs put on by the foes of the President, who do not and dare not let the real cause of their hate be seen, a new truth would gild Dr Johnson's saying, that "patriotism is the last refuge of a scoundrel." Could the people know all the malignant virtue and busy sanctity which cloak rankling griefs over spoils and power, they would think the best revenue reform the one suggested by Britain's cynic

Oh, that in England there might be
A tax upon hypocrisy

No, Mr President, the idea that having favors to bestow is an advantage, is a delusion Between candidates, the odds are with him who has disappointed no one, and against him whose benefits are already distributed, and who has disappointed several every time he has acted

The truth of this last remark is as obvious as the plainness with which the fact is stated Mr. Conkling then proceeded to inquire whether experience was of no value in high places, saying

Other things being equal, is not he the best man for a place who is practised in it? Is not an upright man better fitted to be President the day he leaves than the day he reaches the Presidential chair? If he is, shall we throw away in advance, and for all emergencies, the benefit of tried rulers, because we may, some time or other, find one whose experience is weighed down by faults? What was the standing explanation of the predominance of the South in the councils and affairs of the nation for so many years? It was that she tended her public men in place, and did not change from man to man. Southern Senators and Representatives were returned again and again, and therefore, and thereby, they acquired the practice, the knowledge and the experience which made them overmatches for the new men who came, one after another, from the North Yet the duties of a Senator or Representative are not more hard or slow to learn than the duties of the President. In either place, more knowledge would be useful than mortal man was ever blessed with.

I make no argument against rotation in office—far from it The people will insist, and I think they should insist, that all who hold political offices shall lay down their commissions at frequent intervals. If the man whose term expires, has been faithful and useful, he may be elected or appointed again; but he must lay his commission at the feet of those who granted it Thus the nation and the people of the States, keep the staff in their own hands, and this is all that is needed If, competing with all others, one who has already served in a place, is again selected for it, no one need complain, but periodical expirations of public trusts will not be readily abandoned This truth, if it be a truth, should not be overlooked in civil service reform. I believe any system will be stranded which attempts to keep incumbents in place for life, or for long periods, without re-election or reappointment The Judiciary have life tenures, and this is enough of life tenure in a republic of equal rights The selection of public agents, ought to be absolutely with its public control This is true, from the highest official, to the man or woman who trims the wick in the light house, or who delivers the letter where the mail goes only once a week Surely we war upon this full control, when we ask the people to foreswear the right to employ as their chief agent one whom they have tried, and whom they like

The Hon. Mr. Amis of Lane county, Member of the Legislature, Fellow of the Penitentiary Smelting Committee, Author of the Chinese Cue Bill, etc, etc., brings himself before the public again by means of a letter published in the Eugene Guard This statesman dates his letter at "Sleepy Vale," which we suppose to be a retreat to which he has repaired to obtain temporary respite from the cankering and corroding cares of state which have of late been oppressing him But the envy of factious rivals grudges him the rest and quiet of his retirement, and has put in circulation a malicious report that he is trying to set up Lane county for Grover and against Whiteaker for the United States Senate This report Amis denies utterly His rhetoric comes down with a "rotundal swoop" upon his slanderers, even as his one bill proposed to "get" the Chinaman "where the hair was short," and under the lightning of his attack the whole band of meddlers and detractors are scorched blasted and overthrown Peg one more for the statesman of Lane!

Several important and useful articles on Oregon and its resources have recently appeared in the German paper of this city, the Oregon Deutsche Zeitung These articles are by Mr Paul Schulze, a German gentleman, who came to Oregon from San Francisco two or three months since They are written in a spirit of thorough appreciation of our State Many copies of the numbers containing them have, as we understand, been sent to Germany, where they will attract attention to Oregon

The enterprise for a plank road to Washington county is getting fairly under way It will be greatly to Portland's interest to aid it Property here will be greatly enhanced in value by it beyond the whole amount that the road will cost Portland has now arrived at a stage of her growth which gives her means to further enterprises like this and which will enable her to receive benefits from them commensurate with their cost

From San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb 5 —About half past 8 o'clock last night, when our streets were crowded with pedestrians, a young lady 15 years of age, daughter of a respectable widow residing at Diamonte Park, when on her way to attend a wedding, was stopped by a backman and pushed into a hack standing on the corner of Market and Third streets The hack was empty

Market, and at the intersection of Stockton street, her screams attracted a crowd, who stopped the carriage and released her, but meantime her person had been violated The man who was inside with her, ran down to Dupont street and was corralled and captured in a house of ill fame The driver drove the carriage away as quickly as possible, but was subsequently arrested and both locked up. The statement of the girl is corroborated in several particulars by persons on the street, but the backman avows that she went into the hack voluntarily, and was released as soon as she expressed a desire. Facts are sworn to by the girl The intrigue is the boldest ever perpetrated in San Francisco

A dispatch from Postal Agent Baystow, at Ogden, gives no hope of getting the Eastern mails through here for the next week or ten days Baystow says he will go as far East as possible, and when a connection is made will get the mails assorted and arranged so as to deliver them here with the least possible delay and confusion

The stock excitement to-day has never been equaled in the market. Twenty nine thousand six hundred and seventy four shares changed hands at the morning Board, which is a greater number than was ever sold in any one whole day before. One operator is reported to have made $200,000 within the past three days Another is said to have become actually insane from excitement. The general impression appears to be that the advance cannot be continued through the week, and that a heavy fall is inevitable The afternoon Board redeemed the feeling, and sales were much reduced, prices generally shaking off, though the sports bought heavily to save themselves

The grant ng of Myr. Faur a new trial by the Supreme Court to day took the public by surprise, as it was expected, if at all, on wholly different grounds. Leading lawyers say it will be easier to get a jury a new trial among the shifting population of San Francisco, than in any of the adjacent counties where people are more stationary, and that there is no probability that an attempt will be made to have a change of venue, at least on the part of the people.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb 5 —On first impressions the police were inclined to doubt the story of Miss Catherine O'Hara, who was violated by the hackman last night on Market treet, but subsequent investigations go far to substantiate the truth of her assertions The surgeon who made an examination states as a result that there is evidence corroborating her story, and circumstances which cannot be staied strengthen the belief that it is one of the most daring and atrocious outrages ever perpetrated in San Francisco Public feeling is very strong against the hackman The owner and driver of the hack are out on $2 000 bail The man charged with the perpetration of the crime is still in custody

This point was decided in favor of the people Judgment was reversed because the court below admitted evidence as to the character of defendant for chastity and upon the further ground that in capital cases defendant was entitled to counsel, and that attorneys must argue the case to the jury alternately and in this instance the late Mr Cook was entitled to close the argument to the jury, which right was denied by the court

More Truth than Suavity

At a banquet recently given to the Japanese Embassy in San Francisco Rev H Stebbins was present It devolved on him to respond to a sentiment, when he seized the opportunity to fire off some of his oratorical pyrotechnics Both Gov Booth and ex-Gov Haight were present Mr Stebbins said

While we are here to night wooing the commerce of old empires, you, Governor, as the representative of one political party, and our ex-governor Haight as the representative of the other, are committed to a policy to exclude these people to our shores The position is absurd and ridiculous As a policy it is nonsense as a principle it is nowhere It is raging and bobtail If any of you cheap politicians have won a penny by it in the passions of the hour, beware when you put that penny in your purses, lest the angle of the reverse of your gold coin stick its talons through and scratch the face of liberty

This was remarkably plain speaking Under the circumstances it was in bad taste, if not down right rudeness Yet it possessed the redeeming quality of truth The language employed cannot be said to possess in a remarkable degree the merit of elegance and refinement but if the Japanese gentlemen had not been present it might have been admissible as a plain lecture to Govs Booth and Haight It was telegraphed to New York, where it was commented on by the press The Times said it was fortunate the Japanese who heard it didn't understand the English language

The Dominion of Canada is now engaged in building a railroad which is designed to bind all the Eastern Provinces of the Dominion together The whole line is now under construction and at such a rate of progress as gives assurance that before the end of 1873 there will be a continuous railway from Halifax to the chief cities of the Upper Provinces The design is entertained of pushing this road through to the Pacific ocean, so as to unite British Columbia with the rest of the Dominion But this undertaking is one of too serious a character to be accomplished yet for many years Surveys, indeed, are being made, and probably after many years the Dominion may have a line of road from Halifax to Vancouver's Island. But the enterprise is beyond the present resources of the country

DR A M LOBYER & CO —For a long time I have been afflicted with Rheumatism in my hands and feet, the pains most of the time being very severe On the 7th of July I procured some of your "UNK WEED" REMEDY, and after taking only three bottles And that I am quite restored to health and strength I have had the Rheumatism for eleven (11) years and think that the success of the "UNK" during a disease of so long standing is no short a time, is very remarkable.

As a tonic and appetizer I have never met with any thing equal to the "UNK WEED REMEDY" During the time I was taking it I gained fifteen (15) pounds in weight Trusting that this certificate may be useful in inducing others afflicted as I was to try the "UNK,"

I remain very truly yours,

CITY.

THE PORTLAND LIBRARY.—We published yesterday morning, briefly the proceedings at the annual meeting of the Portland Library Association, together with the reports of the President and Librarian, omitting however from the latter the list of newspapers and periodicals regularly received at the Library. In the matter of securing Library rooms hereafter, there were several propositions submitted, for the publication of which in detail, we did not have room yesterday morning. The lease of the present rooms will expire in March next. It has long been desired by the Association that it should have rooms of its own, and the means of bringing about such a consummation have been earnestly discussed among its members. At the meeting Saturday evening, Judge Deady submitted three suggestions for the accomplishment of the desired end. First—The money to be raised for the purchase of a lot to be leased for a term of years on condition that the lessee shall erect thereon a suitable building, the first floor of which to be used by the Library Association. Second—That the Association adopt the plan of organizing a Building Association, as has been done by some of the institutions of New York. Third—That the city be asked to contribute monthly to the support of the Library. Mr. W. S. Ladd offered to give the Association the use of the present rooms, free, for another year, on condition that the people of the city should subscribe to the Association's funds, the sum of $2,000 for the purchase of a lot, for new books. He was willing to do this much for the Association provided other citizens would give aid in like proportion. Discussing this proposition, Judge Deady remarked that if such contributions should be asked for, the Association ought to apply to men who are able to give $100 to $500, instead of asking contributions from men of small means—those who usually give $5, $10 or $15. He thought it a burden should be borne by the wealthier men. He thought it best to occupy the present rooms for three years longer, and, meantime try to raise sufficient funds to purchase a lot for a Library building. The discussion was continued at some length by Messrs. L. H. Wakefield, President, L. Allen, Henry Failing, and others, and, finally, on motion of Mr. Failing, the proposition of Mr. I. ✝ was referred to the Committee on Rooms. The report is expected at the next regular monthly meeting of the Association.

REINFORCEMENTS FROM SCOTLAND.—Mr. Andrew Kidd, a late arrival from Dundee, Scotland, has purchased a farm of two hundred and eighty five acres near the Wallamet river, three miles from Dayton, Yamhill county. In consequence of his very favorable report of this valley, several other families, relatives and friends of Mr. Kidd, will come out in the Spring. His attention was first attracted to Oregon by letters written by Mr. O. B. Phelps of this city, and published in the newspapers of Scotland. Mr. Phelps is doing, in a quiet way, much valuable work for Oregon.

WASHINGTON GUARD'S ANNUAL BALL.—On Saturday evening the Washington Guard appointed a committee of arrangements to prepare for their Tenth Annual Ball, to be held on the 22d instant, the company's chief anniversary. The Committee are, Lieutenants A. Campbell and H. Cook, and Messrs. Wm. Abernethy, J. M. Hill, George F. Hankins, James Cox, and William Zimmerman. In connection with the Prize Drill, to take place the same evening, this ball is intended to be the grandest affair the company has ever produced.

WEATHER REPORTS.—The telegraphic reports of the weather, up the Columbia, yesterday, as follows: Dalles, thermometer, 8°; Umatilla, 16°; Walla Walla, 22°; Cascades, 14°. During Sunday night, at the Dalles, the thermometer indicated zero. At all the points named, the weather was a sudden change from that of the day before, when there were decided indications of a thaw. The prospect is now quite as discouraging as at any former time, for a reopening of navigation.

THOSE SLIPPERY APRONS.—Mr. S. M. Lyon, stepping incautiously upon one of the street aprons, slipped and fell, injuring himself severely. We heard of several other parties who were similarly unfortunate in falling, though we did not hear of any other seriously hurt. The state of the aprons for two or three days has not been such as to promote entire confidence in, or to excite any particular degree of admiration for them.

A COMPROMISE IN PROGRESS.—We are informed that the several adverse claimants to rights in the Caruthers estate of this city, have agreed upon the general terms of a compromise, and that they are now engaged in settling the details. It is said in this connection that the property, or rather the claims to it, will pass into the hands of a joint stock company.

STATE HORTICULTURAL SOCIETY.—We are requested to state again that the State Horticultural Society will meet at Ladd's private counting room in this city to-morrow, at half past ten o'clock, A. M. The object of the meeting is to make arrangements for holding a Horticultural fair next Summer. A full attendance is desired.

SALEM DIRECTORY.—We have received from the publishers, Frank Cook & Co., the Directory of Salem for 1872. It is compiled by J. Henry Brown, contains an interesting history of the town and about the usual statistics, besides the census directory, and city ordinances.

STOLEN ARTICLES RETURNED.—Mr. Goldstein, from whom young Gill stole a number of articles for the purpose of making presents to his friends, has received several of them back again from a lady at St. Helens, who had received them as gifts from Gill.

ARRIVAL FROM SITKA.—The steamer Gussie Telfair arrived yesterday morning from Sitka, bringing the following list of passengers: Col. David Taggert, G. B. Withington, Wm. Kapus, J. J. Blackwort, Caspar Ruf, David Allen.

POLICE MATTERS.—Yesterday Thomas Higgins was fined $5 for being drunk. John W. Seyton was taxed $40 for being disorderly, and Laura Anderson pleading guilty of disorderly conduct, was charged $10.

MUSICAL.—We hear that Prof. Newell and Mr. J. H. Stinson of this city, accompanied by two or three vocalists, will shortly give some musical entertainments at the larger towns up the valley.

LADIES' SOCIETY MEETING.—The Ladies Relief Society will meet at the usual place, to-day, (Tuesday), at 2 o'clock.

AMUSEMENTS.

TURN-VEREIN BALL.—The assemblage last evening at Philharmonic Hall was quite fair in point of numbers and the guests had a very pleasant time of it.

ONE FINO THEATER.—The sparkling and lively comedy of "Wild Oats" will be played this evening with Mr. Waldron in the character of Rover, and Mrs. Waldron as Lady Amaranth. The performance will conclude with the exceedingly laughable burletta of "Bombastes Furioso," in which the entire company will appear. It is a splendid bill.

REGULATIONS FOR LENT.

ARCHDIOCESE OF OREGON CITY.

The following are the regulations for Lent in the Archdiocese of Oregon City, commencing on the 14th of February, instant:

1. All the week days of Lent, from Ash Wednesday till Easter Sunday, are fasting days of precept, on which one full meal only is allowed, with a collation in the evening, not exceeding one-fourth of an ordinary meal, and a cup of tea or coffee with a morsel of bread in the morning.

2. The precept of fasting implies also that of abstinence from the use of flesh meat. But, by dispensation, the use of flesh meat is allowed in this Diocese, once a day, at the principal meal, on all the Mondays, Tuesdays and Thursdays of Lent, Holy Thursdays excepted; and at every meal on all Sundays. By the foregoing dispensation, then, there remain only three days of abstinence every week, the Holy Week excepted.

3. Persons dispensed from the obligation of fasting on account of tender or advanced age, or hard labor, are not bound by the restriction of using meat only on days on which its use is granted by dispensation.

4. The regular meal is not, without reasonable cause, to be taken long before noon.

5. The use of flesh meat and fish at the same meal is prohibited.

6. There is no prohibition to use eggs, butter, milk and cheese. Lard may be used in preparing fish and vegetables during Lent. This dispensation extends also to the days of fasting and abstinence throughout the year.

7. The church excuses from the obligation of fasting (but not of abstinence from flesh meat, except in special cases of sickness and the like), the infirm, those under 21 years of age, women in pregnancy or nursing infants, persons enfeebled by old age, those who are obliged to take long and painful voyages, or whose work or duties are of an exhausting or laborious character, or who by fasting would be rendered incapable of discharging the duties of their calling, or would notably impair their health.

8. It is nevertheless eminently in the spirit of the church that such persons should supply in part by some good work—that is, by prayers, alms and mortification—for what is remitted in fasting and abstinence.

9. It is also in the spirit of the church that fervent prayers and alms deed, according to each one's ability, should be the inseparable companions of our fasting and abstinence. These three sisters should go hand in hand, to help us in our warfare against our three mortal enemies—the world, the flesh and the devil; according to the advice of the angel to Tobias (xii. 8): "Prayer is good with fasting and alms, more than to lay up treasures of gold." The practice of these three eminent good works we must oppose to the triple concupiscence that reigns in the world (1 St. John ii. 16), and by means of which Satan maintains his unhappy reign. By fasting we overcome the lusts of the flesh; by alms deeds we subdue the lusts of the eyes, by which we are apt to covet the mammon of the world and its empty toys; and by fervent and humble prayers we conquer the pride of life and put to flight the devil, the king of pride. O, let us never forget to call in, in this holy season, these powerful auxiliaries to help us in our warfare. We earnestly recommend the heads of families to have a spiritual reading made in the evening before the family, to recite the chaplet, and say the evening prayers in common during the Lent.

10. The very soul of fasting and abstinence is a penitential spirit, which implies a deep sense of the guilt of our sins; a horror and detestation of our past disloyalties and treasons, and a hearty sorrow for them; a sincere desire to return to God, and renounce our sinful ways for the future; and particularly a readiness of mind to make the best satisfaction we are able to the divine justice by penancing ourselves for our sins. Fasting and abstinence performed in this spirit cannot fail to move God to mercy.

11. By an Indult of our Holy Father, Pope Pius IX., at the request of the late Right Rev. Bishop of Buffalo, the seamen and soldiers in the United States service have only six days of abstinence during the year, viz: Ash Wednesday, the three last days of the Holy Week, the Vigil of the Assumption of the B. V. M., and that of Christmas. But as the obligation of fasting, it remains obligatory for them, as for all the rest.

12. The prominent parts of the usual evening services to be held on all the Wednesday and Fridays in Lent, are the rosary, an instruction, and the Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament.

Given at Portland, Oregon, February 1, 1872.

✝F. N. BLANCHET,
Archbishop of Oregon City.

P. S.—The following Dispensation of Abstinence has been renewed at Rome for ten years from August 23, 1865, for the whole Ecclesiastical Province of Oregon City, viz:

1. On all the Saturdays of the year which are not fasting days of obligation.
2. On the Wednesdays of Advent.
3. On the three Rogation days and St. Mark.
4. On certain days in Lent.

✝F. N. BLANCHET.
Archbishop of Oregon City.

ST. HELENS.

A DISGRACEFUL ROW—STREET FIGHT AMONG DRUNKEN MEN—ONE OF THEM STABBED.

ST. HELENS, Feb. 4, 1872.

Last evening a disgraceful affair occurred on the streets of our usually quiet burg. It is the first of the kind here, and we hope the last. John Gann, D. B. Goble, Amos and William Slavin, (brothers), who, it is said, were created in the image of Deity, but since witnessing the scene of last evening, we are strongly inclined to doubt the doctrine and believe it was "in the likeness of "tother chap," having partaken of too much hell-fire in that "sink of perdition" where it is dealt out in quantities to suit at one-bit a glass. The sink being too small for specimens of their caliber, they retired to the street where they consumed about one-half hour in going through the usual preliminaries to a drunken row. Nothing being left undone, Amos Slavin and Goble clinched in regular style. In the scuffle Goble managed to insert a knife twice into Slaven's back below the shoulder blade. Slaven, having received the worst of it, Goble was declared the victor, and they went on their ways rejoicing. It was not ascertained until some time after that Slaven was badly hurt. He suffered very much and bled profusely. There being no surgeon present we did not learn how serious the injury might be. He received all the care possible. Goble was taken into custody by Deputy Sheriff Pomeroy, where we hope he will have ample time to enjoy his hard-earned laurels.

We wish the friends of temperance, morality and good order, who signed the petition to license this sink of perdition to deal out hell-fire to their friends, will come promptly forward and view the legitimate results of their own act; for had they not signed that petition this disgrace had not been brought upon us. You, the wife, children and friends of the victim, send up your quota of prayers to a just Heaven for its curse upon the traffic in ardent spirits and those who defend it; and rest assured that Heaven is just, and that your prayers will be answered.

LATER.—At a late hour last night Dr. Henderson arrived, and was called in to see the wounded man. After a partial examination he says the cuts are not dangerous, and that the pain arises from internal injuries received in the melee. To-day he will make a further investigation of the case. We understand that Goble was placed under $1,000 bonds for his appearance.

THE UMATILLA HOUSE at The Dalles is now completed and furnished in every respect unsurpassed. The office is the most cheerful and pleasant in the State, and the dining hall is unequaled. The rooms are all newly furnished. The house has twelve suites of rooms with stoves in them for families. The new house stands much higher than the old one. The cellars are four feet higher, which adds greatly to the cheerfulness of the rooms. The table is kept in a style to correspond fully with the appointments.

THE NEW ENGLAND MUTAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY was incorporated in 1835, and is therefore the oldest purely Mutual Life Insurance Company in the United States; it has cash assets of over $10,000,000, and its business is conducted by the Massachusetts Non-Forfeiture Law, offering all the advantages of age and prudent management, its average expenses being lower than any other Company in the United States. It also offers protection against forfeiture by virtue of the MASSACHUSETTS NON-FORFEITURE LAW, which is a feature of great importance, and should be carefully considered by all persons seeking insurance. Guard Your Health and Life.

How inconsistent is human nature. Men carry revolvers to protect themselves against ruffians in well-polished cities, where the precaution is unnecessary, often neglect to fortify their systems against disease in the most unhealthy season. Thousands of dyspeptics are now languishing in sick rooms, or feebly and listlessly moving through our streets, who owe their forlorn condition solely to a want of common prudence. For more inimical than the roughs and rowdies, against whose possible attacks the timid arm themselves, are the morbid elements that pervade the atmosphere at this time of the year, and yet although it is an undoubted and undeniable fact that Hostetter's Stomach Bitters afford a more perfect protection against these causes of disease, than any weapon of offence can afford against lawless violence, the reckless and inconsiderate continue to brave the danger with a positive safeguard within their reach.

Every day, however, the number of these martyrs to their own want of forecast diminishes. Each succeeding season demonstrates more clearly the inestimable value of the Bitters, both as an antidote for the causes of disease, and a specific for its consequences. The miasma which generates periodic disorders, rheumatism, liver complaint, irregularity of the bowels and other physical disturbances, produces no effects whatever upon systems toned, strengthened and regulated by this powerful vegetable medicine, and dyspepsia, nervous debility, constipation, intermittent and remittent fevers, biliousness, and in fact nearly all the maladies which the Bitters, if taken in time, would prevent, are cured by the persevering use of the great remedy.

The genuine Bitters sold in bottles only, and never by the barrel, keg or gallon, as is represented by some unprincipled dealers.

LITTLE HOMES!

WE HAVE OBTAINED MANY TESTIMONIALS, which appear in the WEEKLY OREGONIAN, for the purpose of answering once for all the many inquiries in relation to our "LITTLE HOMES." We desire to show to strangers, through men of known integrity in this community that they are all we claim for them—cheap at present prices, and the speculation to them that in the future growth of Portland, in the building of Railroads, and Bridges over the Willamette—which is merely a question of time—and in the fact that in less than one mile distant, City Blocks (200 feet square) are selling for from two to three thousand dollars, and in less than two and a-half miles (on a direct line) blocks are selling as high as $200,000 per block! Just think of it! $50 per acre for land, and 2½ miles distant, $200,000 per acre! New York city is over twenty miles in length and six miles wide, and many other cities in the United States are half that long, and quite as wide, and if Portland becomes a metropolis she will require this land for business purposes. Thirty years ago we could have purchased a section of land where the business portion of Chicago now stands for $10 per acre—$50 for a five acre tract. Thirty years ago we could have purchased the town site of Portland for a Cayuse pony—but we didn't have the pony! Twenty years ago a solitary individual, with neither money nor friends, found himself in Portland without a red. He purchased a basket, "on tick," and filled it with oranges, on the same terms, and went to peddling. Twenty long, eventful years have since elapsed. Still that sturdy old pioneer has stuck to Portland, and worked his way through thick and thin; and now where do you think he is?—in the poor house, and owes for the basket! But to our

How to Retain Love after Marriage.

[From the Monthly Galaxy.]

Foreigners often inquire what has become of all the fascinating girls for which America is so renowned. The question is easily answered. They die in early wedlock, which too frequently proves the grave of love. The connubial state, as mismanaged by us, generates an asphyxia, in which gallantry, sentiment and tenderness soon breathe their last.

A few years ago there were two lovely sisters hereabout. Their beauty was the theme of general praise, and their beauty was mental and spiritual no less than physical. Their whole being had the rythm and rhyme that belonged to the madrigals of fine flesh and blood. They were from the inmost soul to the externalest line of their gracefulness such creatures as nature makes in her happiest moods, as if to compensate for her innumerable blunders.

They were married, and both, as its was considered, fortunately. Griselda's husband was a prosperous merchant, instinctively generous and sympathetic, knowing little of the world and less of women. Statira was mated with a worthy and wealthy gentleman, who had traveled far and seen much; was cynical in speech, because tender in feeling; called skeptical because he had such ample faith. The first year were as if all the months had been May and June, and then, as usually happens, there came a change. Griselda ceased to appear in public with her liege lord, and soon the most devoted of lovers seemed the most indifferent of husbands. He cultivated new tastes and found new pleasures. Billiards and whist became passions, and he is a regular habitue of the club to which in his bachelor days he was almost unknown. During the third year of wedlock she no longer looked like herself. Her frankness and roundness were gone; those tyrants of feminine sanctities, the nerves, ruled her mercilessly. If Napoleon's rule speech to Duclos be correct, Griselda is likely to be one of the greatest of women. Everybody deplored her decline but him who had most reason to deplore it. To-day hardly any one could be persuaded that Griselda could ever have laid the smallest claim to beauty, or that elegance and brilliancy had ever been remotely acquainted with her. Barely thirty, she seems five and forty, and all the brightness of her life is dimmed forever.

Statira's first year was like her sister's; but when her husband showed signs of weariness she resolved to charm his weariness away.

"You would be a well bred truant," she said, "as you have been before, but I shall not let you. You have thought it well to flirt with other women, but with your wife your intentions must be serious. You have vowed to love me, and I shall make you keep your word by always appearing lovely. I am young and fair and accomplished, and what is more, I intend to remain so. You have not exhausted me, and you shall not, for every day I shall unfold a new leaf of beauty, and sentimental botanist as you are, you cannot fail to be interested. I shall be a true wife, but I shall be a charming woman also. When you come home I shall read and play and talk to you, and it will be strange if your affection grows languid and your caress conventional. If you go out in the evening I shall go with you. No more club or bachelor dinners if I can wean you from them by such means as are at my command. My quiver has not begun to be emptied yet of cupid's arrows, and the boy god is, I am sure, my firmest friend. I shall so show my love that you cannot help but love me in return, and when we have grown old I shall expect from you the courtesies and gallantries you have showered upon me on our bridal morning."

Statira was true to her word. She continued lovely in every outward detail no less than in the inward spirit, and she was fondly loved. The years that have passed since her wedding find her fresh and bright, for her heart is happy as in her girlhood, and her husband falls newly in love with her every radiant morning and every blessed night. She has made the name of wife sacred to him who first went to jest at marriage, and all the swallows of his fancy have flown home to rest.

Statira has wrought a miracle by the simplest means. She has kept her husband's heart by the tender sympathy to which strong and chivalrous men are prone to submit.

How Hackatt came to Play Falstaff.

The account of how Hackett, who died the other day, came to enact the part of Falstaff, is best given in his own words several years ago. "It is the month of May, 1831, while Charles Kean and myself were starring upon alternate nights at the Arch street theater, Philadelphia, and were fellow guests in Head's Mansion House, then the favorite hotel in that city, we strolled about the town together. In the course of our promenade Charles Kean asked me if I had ever thought of acting Falstaff? I replied that "with such object I had partially studied the character." He observed, "I have a strong desire to play Hotspur, and if you will undertake to be ready within a week to make a first appearance in Falstaff, I will essay Hotspur on the occasion for the first time, also." We performed accordingly, and both were favorably received, May 21st, 1831. The weather that evening was very warm, and the costume I wore, covering a heavy padding or stuffing of curled hair, to give the requisite rotundity, together with my anxiety and nervousness about the result, caused me to perspire very profusely. Toward the conclusion of the play the manager, Duffy, came behind the scenes and reported some complimentary remarks which certain critics among the audience had made, and inquired, "How do you feel now?" I replied, "Severely punished by the heat of the weather, intensified as it is, by confined space, the gas lights and the breath of the audience." "Pshaw," rejoined Duffy, "you don't suffer at all when compared with Cooper (Thomas A.,) just such a night as this about a year ago. After Falstaff running away and roaring for mercy when surprised and chased from Gad's hill by the Prince and Poins, Cooper insisted upon having the large double doors at the back of the stage—constructed in order to admit elephants, horses and cars on occasion—thrown wide open, and, regardless of the rear being upon a public alley, ordered his servant to bring a chair, which he placed in that opening and sat himself there to pant and try to cool himself. Every time thereafter as he came off the stage he threw himself into the chair and commenced by crying aloud to his servant, 'Where's that brandy and water?' 'Here, sir,' Having swigged it down, Cooper next ordered him, 'Bring here a looking glass.' After reconnoitering his features in the mirror, 'There's that bloody red nose of mine, and more characteristic than Bardolph's; get some chalk and whiten it.' His servant had hardly time to effect it when Cooper was called to the stage. Upon returning, as before, he called first for brandy and water, then for the looking-glass, and again surveying his face, he rebuked his servant, 'Didn't I tell you, sirrah, to chalk my nose?' His man replied, 'I did, sir, but you sweat so much that the chalk won't stay on it!' 'Well, then, take the towel and wipe my nose dry first, and then rub more chalk over it.' He was interrupted by the call boy, 'Mr. Cooper, the stage is waiting for you.' 'Is it? I'll pray be to d—d if I ever undertake to act this infernal old vagabond again!'"

A grotesque simile is sometimes very expressive. We mention those of Daniel Webster, who likened the word "would," in Rufus Choate's handwriting, to a small gridiron struck by lightning; of a sailor who likened a gentleman whose face was covered with whiskers up to his very eyes, to a rat peeping out of a bunch of oakum; of a Western reporter, who, in a weather item on a cold day, said that the sun's rays in the efforts to thaw the ice were as futile as the dull reflex of a painted yellow dog; of a conductor who, in a discussion as to speed, said the last time he ran this engine from Syracuse the telegraph poles on the side looked like a fine-tooth comb.

The steamship Gussie Telfair arrived from Sitka this morning.

The bark Metis reached her wharf last night. She is chartered to load Wheat for the United Kingdom by Hewitt, Flowerdew & Co.

The bark Cicilah reached her wharf last night. Messrs. Hewett, Flowerdew & Co. chartered her to load Wheat for the United Kingdom.

The bark Melancthon, from San Francisco, arrived last night under tow of the Dixie Thompson.

The North Pacific Transportation Company announce the steamship Idaho for San Francisco Saturday, Feb. 10, at 4 o'clock P. M. The steamship Gussie Telfair for Sitka and intermediate ports Thursday next. The steamship California for Victoria and Sound Ports on Thursday afternoon.

The dimensions of Messrs. Allen, Lewis & Flanders' warehouse is 70 by 210 feet instead of 70 by 140 feet as given by us in this morning's issue.

Parties are getting out the Spars for the ship Windward. It is thought she will be ready for sea by the last of the month if not sooner.

Since writing the Produce Market Report the telegraph commenced working through, bringing us information of the Wheat market continuing firm; also of a vessel being laid on for China to load Flour. Potatoes firm.

Our merchants who have made their shipments from the Eastern States by railroad are in the same condition as the San Francisco merchants. They have large shipments en route but owing to the snow blockade, they are uncertain as to the time when the goods can be expected. Messrs. L. White & Co., and J. Kraemer & Co. received by last steamer, small invoices that were some time on the way. The last firm informs us that one of their shipments was made from Boston in October. We are glad to learn that our large dry Goods and Clothing houses have made large and extensive purchases East, and that their stock will be complete in every respect upon arrival of goods. At present they are unquestionably embarrassed owing to the snow blockade. Our merchants are not alone in this respect, for the San Francisco merchants are not able to keep up assortments at present. So that no one will better themselves by sending to San Francisco for what they are unable to purchase here. Interior merchants and traders heretofore purchasing in San Francisco would do well to patronize our market, for, from all we can learn they will find it greatly to their interest to do so. The old adage, "Goods bought cheap are half sold," will hold good in purchases made in this market from merchants making their purchases East, direct from manufacturers or the agents of manufacturers. We do not claim that our merchants can make their purchases cheaper than the San Francisco merchants, but we do claim that they can buy as cheap, and their expenses being lighter, and being particular to who they extend credit, by which means a good firm does not pay a bad firm's debts, they are enabled to sell cheaper. And as they will keep full and complete assortments of everything no one will need send below for anything.

We have been asked several times, "What are the Pilot Commissioners about? Complaints through the press and in business circles are constantly being made, yet so far as we are able to learn no investigations have been made. Is the Pilot business run for political or other purposes? It would appear so from all we can hear." Vessels arriving and going out are told, so we are informed, that they cannot be towed up and down the river drawing over a certain depth. Our shippers have submitted to this until patience has ceased to be a virtue, and lately they have been compelled in self defense to rebel. The bark Harrington it was claimed could not be towed down drawing over 16 feet 6 inches, but the same day the bark Metis was towed up drawing 17 feet 1 inch, and it is said could have come up as easily drawing 17 feet 6 inches. This is only one instance; others it is unnecessary to mention. The river pilots may have some political influence, and it may not be advisable to cause an investigation into their conduct on political grounds, for it might not only offend them—the pilots—but also those who obtain the lighterage business. We are now satisfied that the citizens of Astoria, or at least those with whom we have conversed, do not wish to throw any obstacle in the way of the free navigation of the Columbia and Willamette rivers by Ocean vessels, and are striving in some instances to do away with the exaggerated reports concerning vessels not being able to come up and go down at certain stages of the water in the river. It is time that the Pilot Commissioners see if there be just grounds for complaint against the river pilots, and if there is, remove them. Our commerce, now in its infancy, is too important to be tampered with.

While we are trying to overcome all difficulties in the way of vessels having quick and easy passage up and down the river, we should not overlook another very important measure, which so far as we are able to learn has never yet been touched upon, and that is the laying down of a submarine telegraph from the light house at Cape Disappointment to Astoria, to connect there with an overland line to Portland. The cost of construction, in consideration of the great benefits to be derived, will be very light and scarcely felt. One of the first things constructed in San Francisco, after she began to take into consideration the great importance of her shipping interests, was to have a telegraph constructed from the "Heads" to the Merchants' Exchange, so that every ship or sailing vessel signaled outside could be immediately telegraphed to the Exchange, and if no ship was waiting outside one would be dispatched immediately. The advantages to be derived from having a submarine cable laid, it is hardly necessary to enlarge upon, as all are sufficiently well informed to know and appreciate its great value if once constructed. From Astoria to this city the Western Union Telegraph Company could be induced to extend their lines, considering that it extends already nearly one-half the distance. From what we can learn a line in working order from here to Astoria would be used more extensively than over any other route excepting that from here to San Francisco. Cannot a movement looking to the above objects be made by our leading citizens?

Produce Market.

WHEAT—Owing to the lines not working through to-day shippers were not offering more, preferring to wait further and fuller advices regarding the upward movement in the San Francisco market. The barks Metis and Chehah were taken for the United Kingdom to-day on terms reported.

FLOUR—Local demand good with prices unchanged. The standard mills will all finish grinding by the last of March, and one or two by the middle of the month.

FEED—The demand is improving, with prices firmer at our quotations. The free shipments to San Francisco and Puget Sound has given more tone to the market, with a probable improvement in prices if the present weather holds on for a few days. We quote Bran in jobbing lots at $25 ₰ ton; Middlings, $35@45.

POTATOES—The call from the trade is fair at our quotations. J. O'Connor received on invoice of large-size Early Yorks which met with quick sale at $1 25@1 50 ₰ 100 lbs for seed. California choice job at $1 25@1 35 ₰ 100 lbs. Oregon in light supply and held firm at $1 25@1 50 in jobbing lots.

General Merchandise.

HARDWARE—We noticed at the store of J. E. Foster a new and novel Rat Trap—the invention of Capt. Stump. It cannot help recommending itself to the trade, owing to the facility with which it works and also to its cheapness. It is quotable in jobbing lots at $24 ₰ doz.

HOPS—New York advices state that the market is very strong, owing to an improved demand from consumers and an advance in Europe. The stock of 1871's is so much reduced that buyers must soon rely on the older growths remaining. The sales are about 100 bales 1871's at 60@70 cents; 20 do Bavarian, 80; and about 100 bales 1870's, 30@35. Holders of older growths do not offer stocks at present quotations.

NAILS—The N.Y. Shipping List says: Cut continue steady and firm at our quotations. The Western Mills put up the price 50 cents ₰ keg at their meeting at Pittsburg Thursday. The makers on this side of the Alleghanies will meet to-day at Philadelphia, and an advance to $5 for 10d is deemed probable.

AGRICULTURAL IMPLEMENTS—Gray's plow, Peel patent, $10; Sulky, $40; Eureka, $90. Buckeye Grain Drill, 9 hoe, $120; 10-hoe, $125.
